MEDICINAL.

Sleepless Nights

"For nearly a month I was so nervous and worn out that I could not work. I tried many medicines, but none gave me relief until I used Paine's Celery Compound, which at once strengthened and invigorated my nerves." HARRY SHERMAN, Burlington, Vt.

Paine's Celery Compound

quickly quiets and strengthens the nerves, when irritated or weakened by overwork, excess, disease, or shock. It cures nervousness, headache, dyspepsia, sleeplessness, melancholia, and other disorders of the nervous system.

Tones up the Shattered Nerves

"Forty years I was a sufferer from nervous debility, and I thank God and the discoverer of the valuable remedy, that Paine's Celery Compound cured me. Let any one write to me for advice." GEORGE W. BOUTON, Stamford, Conn.

Killed at His Wife's Side.

As mentioned in the Alexandria Gazette on Tuesday afternoon, Nat. B. Marks, a very thrifty and highly respected merchant, doing business in Sussex county, about two miles and a half from Wakefield Station on the Norfolk and Western Railroad, was shot and killed in the presence of his wife by a youth named Coulton H. Marks, son of D. A. Marks, also of Sussex county. The two families lived close to each other, and had been on very friendly terms. It seems that on Monday last D. A. Marks communicated to some of his friends the contents of a statement which his wife had written out, purporting to have been taken from the life of his little daughter Sallie, about twelve years of age, in which the charge is made that in Sept. last, Nat. B. Marks attempted to ravish her. After the consultation a letter was written and signed by D. A. Marks, in which he tells Baine for the first time of the charge thus prepared against him, and gives him the option of either leaving that portion of Virginia before July 1, 1889, or being prosecuted for his alleged crime. On receiving this letter Mr. Baine at once asserted his innocence, and, in company with his wife, went over to Mrs. Marks to see her about the charge. Marks, as it happened, was not at home, but Mrs. Marks was. While Mr. Baine and Mrs. Baine and Mrs. Marks were talking over the matter, Coulton Marks, about twenty years of age, was seen to leave his bar-room, a short distance from the family residence, and take the short cut across the field to his father's home. The first thing Baine knew of his presence was a shot fired from behind, just to the left side, which penetrated his left cheek. Baine then turned and begged Marks not to shoot again; but Marks, running up to him, shot him again in the breast, and was in the act of shooting the third time when Baine's wife caught his arm. Baine fell and died in about three minutes, his head resting in his wife's lap. Shortly after the shooting Marks surrendered himself, and was committed for trial.

[David A. Marks, father of young Marks, was a member of the Fairfax Rifles, 17th Virginia Regiment.]

[COMMUNICATED.]

In arranging for our next candidate for Governor there can be no doubt the southern part of the State is entitled to the choice. Piedmont Virginia, the Valley and the northern sections have all had their turn in the executive chair; and now, it is but fair, in the natural order of sequence, that the southern part of the State should have the candidate. With a majority less than 2,000 as shown by the last election, there is no time to waste on matters of detail. Let the southern part of the State name the man to be elected. There is no doubt it will choose a good man, for there are plenty of them there; and once chosen it is the duty of the party to elect him.

Whoever may be our candidate for Governor there is one man, a citizen of our mountain girt county, whose claims for the second place on the ticket are deserving of consideration. We refer to our present representative in the legislature, Mr. Basil Gordon. Though a young man and before the people but for the last few years, still in this short time he has shown himself a man of high, fixed principle, quick in thought and ready to act upon his conviction of duty. Educated in the political faith of his State, he has shown an unusual interest in the questions that affect her and her welfare and has given to them the attention of a thinking and a vigorous mind. His has been a study with the view to find a way out of the difficulty surrounding the debt question, and his views on that, as on other matters, are on the practical side of the case. He will give to the ticket much strength because of his energetic, working character and the resources of a strong, active and well balanced mind. We know of no one whose claims are stronger or who better deserves the place of Lieutenant Governor.

Woodville, Rappk. Co., Mar. 2. B.

BRUTAL MURDER OF A WOMAN.—Catherine Taylor, a widow, about fifty years of age, was brutally murdered in her bed at her home in West Troy, N. Y., Tuesday night. She was struck on the head with an axe, a terrible wound being inflicted. One of the fingers of her left hand was cut off, as if she had tried to stop the blow. The assassin is unknown. A son, William, 25 years of age, is under police surveillance. The weapon has not been found. An axe is missing from the cellar of the house, and it is believed that it was taken for the purpose of committing the crime.
